Slot machine apps where you win real money

The average person spends about four hours a day on their mobile phones and spends about 90% of that time using apps. So why not turn your mindless scrolling into cold, hard cash? We've rounded up our favorite money making apps, from apps to help you make money back on online purchases to those that pay you for your opinions, to those that will invest spare changes for you, even apps that pay you for performance. Yes, really. Read on to see which apps have made the list. Courtesy of Apple App Store Sign up now, what we like no fees More than 2500 stores available Cash back can apply for in-store purchases What we do not like payouts every quarter must have an account PayPal receive payouts electronically non-electronic payments sent out through checking Also PayPal great browser extension for those on the desktop, Ebates has a solid money making app Just. With this tool you can use in-store coupons, scan items as you go to price comparison, and perhaps its most well-known feature – make money back on some purchases from some retailers. Here's how it works: Once you download and start using the app, you'll earn a set percentage of cash back when you shop with Ebates' list of 2,500-plus eligible sellers. While cash back is usually between 1% and 2%, we have earned up to 10%. You will also get access to in-store coupons and other benefits. Ebates even compares coupons for you so you can be sure that you are getting the best deal. More plus this app? Once you sign up and start using it, you'll automatically get paid every three months if you've earned at least $5.01. Ebates is an industry common in the world of money-making applications. Founded in 1999, it's doled out more than $1 billion in cash back to its customers. Download on iTunes or Google. Courtesy of Apple App Store Sign up now for what we like, you can earn rewards by going to partner stores Alternative ways to earn points like watching videos and scanning selected barcodes More than 250,000 retail sites offer walk-in and barcode scan rewards What we don't like can only claim rewards through gift cards Works only on mobile apps No browser options if you love to shop, and often find yourself in your favorite retail destination browsing the aisle, then Shopkick is a great tool for making money. Although, to be fair, Shopkick pays exclusively through gift cards, so keep that in mind. Making money with Shopkick is easy. You download the app, then engage in one of eight activities: walk into the store, no purchase required (yes, it's just that simple), scan the barcodes selected (again, you do not need to buy anything), purchase goods in an authorized shopkick-linked card shop, purchase items and submit confirmations, visit online stores or view online products (without the necessary purchase), purchase online from a Shopkick partner or watch videos in the app. Even if you are not paid in real cash with this app, you don't always make a purchase to earn what is a nice tweak. Buy on at or Google. Courtesy of ibotta Sign up now, what we like real cash back, no points or coupons works on the mobile app and through the browser extension Low cash out threshold What we do not like Lower cash back than other applications Eligible retail sites may not include regional and local stores ibotta is another great cash-back app, and you have three options to make money using it: Upload your income to the app when buying eligible items; Link the store loyalty card before shopping to access special offers or shop in eligible stores through the ibotta app. With ibotta, you'll need to complete tasks within the app to gain access to its money-saving tools, which can be a disadvantage, depending on how much free time you have. You will also need to manually upload receipts and there are only about 300 authorized resellers. However, you can get cash deposited directly into your ibotta account, which you can then withdraw. No waiting for checks via snail emails or attempting to navigate the cryptocurrency. Courtesy of Apple App Store Sign up now, which we like does not require a DSLR camera No commitment Just $5 needed to withdraw cash What we don't like payouts are only through PayPal Payments are sent at least one full month after choosing Great for Novice Photographers and Cameramen, Foap is a money making app that makes it easier to sell your photos and videos. Easily download the app, then upload photos and videos to your online portfolio. If your work is purchased by an agency, brand or other user on Foap, then you will get paid, but you will share profits with Foap 50/50. So, if Foap buys a photo for $10, you make $5. But one photo can sell more than once, which is a nice plus. You can also submit photos to a specific project (Foap calls them missions) for the chance to be paid hundreds for your photo. And if you really become a fan of Acorns, you can also try the company's other offerings: Acorns Later, IRA, and Acorns Spend, Current Account and Debit Card. Courtesy of Acorns Sign up now, what we like no minimum deposit needed to start using the Application No work needed to invest IRA and current account options What we do not like high fees for smaller accounts You may lose money if you want to be a little more invested in your money making app, try Acorns. Download the robo-investment app and link your bank account. With each purchase, Acorns rounds up the extra dollar and automatically invests their spare changes into portfolio ETFs that are diversified across 7,000-plus stocks and bonds. You can also sign up for recurring investments with Acorns, so you'll only invest a few dollars each day and watch your portfolio grow. Acorns even has a list of found money partners—more than 350, in fact—that allow Invest a percentage of their purchase when shopping with leading brands. Keep in mind that Acorns charges a $1/month fee, so factor that into your earnings. But with that, you get a diversified portfolio, automatic automatic investment support from the Acorn support team and mobile access to all your accounts. And if you really become a fan of Acorns, you can also try the company's other offerings: Acorns Later, IRA, and Acorns Spend, Current Account and Debit Card. Courtesy of Apple App Store Sign up now, what we like only the $2 threshold needed for withdrawals Users will be automatically informed when the survey is available No purchases needed to make money What we don't like payouts just sent through PayPal Availability surveys vary opinionated by readers, this is for you. Backed by the world's most popular search engine, Google Opinion Rewards is a definite must-download for those who want to profit from their smartphone addiction—and get paid for being stubborn. Here's how it works: Download the surveys app and complete short surveys on everything from hotels to TV shows to marketers whenever you have a free moment. Think in line at the bank, waiting for the bus, even in the bathroom. For each completed survey, you'll be paid google play credits PayPal the service. The salary ranges from $0.10 to $1 per survey. Courtesy of iPoll Sign up now, what we like Competitive pay for surveys can be paid in cash or gift cards No purchases needed to earn rewards What we do not like a higher threshold for payouts than other explorive applications can take up to six weeks to receive gift cards Another paid survey moneymaking app, iPoll is a little less technologically savvy than its Google counterpart. Download the app and provide some personal information to get you started. Then complete missions such as visiting the store and snapping photos or testing the product. Or be alerted to new surveys the moment you hit the broadcast. Once you have completed your missions or surveys, iPoll.com and money. Although, to be fair, you don't actually make money. Rather, earn rewards such as gift cards, air miles, and the like. But if you're a big shopper or frequent flyer, it might be worth it. Courtesy of Google Play Store Sign up now what we like you can get cash, gift cards, or donate earnings to charity $2 threshold for free payouts to use what we don't like just available on android devices Low daily earnings for Ads users are everywhere. Why not your phone, too? Slidejoy pays for the main property that is your phone lock screen. (Did you know that the average iPhone user unlocks their phone 80 times a day?) Here's how it works. After you sign in and install slidejoy, you start showing ads on the lock screen. Swipe left to learn more about ads, swipe right to Start, or swipe up to see more ads. For each swipe you will get carats, which will be credited your account the next day. Earn 1,000' Carats' and get $1. Slidejoy pays through PayPal or gift cards to various retailers. Think: Amazon, Google Play and Walmart. Another plus? You can also donate your earnings to your favorite charity. Slidejoy calls these app users What we have to say is a nice pat on the back. And you're wondering if this app runs out of battery, the company's answer is a very loud no. Courtesy of Sweatcoin Content Sign up now, what we like for free to use You can redeem your rewards with over 300 companies that promotes a healthier lifestyle There is no commitment What we don't like you can't claim rewards like cash Low earnings for most users Getting out for exercise can be difficult. However, download the Sweatcoin app to see how your motivation flips. After all, the app will pay you for the steps you take. But full disclosure: You are paid in cryptocurrency, digital currency. (Think: Bitcoin.) Here's how it works. Download the Sweatcoin app and always keep it in the background on your phone. Then move on. For every 1,000 steps, you'll earn 0.95 sweatshirts. Once you earn a certain amount of spots, you can redeem them for items like yoga classes against gravity (yes, that's the thing), Apple Watch, iPhone, even vacation. But here's the rub: Most items will cost you around 20,000 hoodies. If you walk 10,000 steps/day, you'll earn 9.5 hoodies. Walk 10,000 steps a day and it will still take almost six years to earn 20,000 Sweatcoin. So this app is really for serious movers and shakers, not casual fitness enthusiasts. Moneymaking app is an app that you can download on your phone, tablet, or sometimes even on your PC to help you make money in different ways. Some apps pay you a small fee to run the app in the background, buy certain places, and get money back. Others pay you to take surveys or participate in activities such as exercise. The goal is to offer a small reward or cash back from the phone, and since we spend so much time on our phones, this can be a convenient way to get paid. Moneymaking apps vary in terms of function, how they help you make money, and also in their prices. Some apps have a small one-time download fee and others charge a nominal monthly fee such as $1. However, most money making apps are free. However, some apps require purchases to save or make money. Be sure to read the fine print when you sign up so you know what to expect and be realistic: making money app won't replace your income, but can sometimes be a small supplement for using your phone as usual. The top 9 moneymaking apps have been selected based on the features and tools they offer to help you make money, background and reputation of the company, and when and how you get paid—whether it's cash or gift cards, etc. etc.
